Education Code, 1887

Resolved, That an humble Address be presented to Her Majesty, praying Her Majesty to direct that Article 91 of the Education Code, 1887, be amended, as follows:—

"Unnecessary Schools. 91. The school must not be unnecessary.

"In any district a school is not deemed to be unnecessary if, at the date of its application for an annual grant, it is recognized as a certified efficient school, and has had during the twelve months preceding such application an average attendance of not less than thirty scholars. A school will not be allowed the benefit of this provision if, within two miles of it by the nearest road, there is another school receiving a special grant under Article 111" (Mr. Conway) Mar 24

Market Rights and Tolls

Amendt. on Committee of Supply, April 22, to leave out from "That," add "an humble Address be presented to Her Majesty, praying Her Majesty to appoint a Royal Commission to inquire as to the extent to which market rights, and rights affecting places where markets are held, are in the hands (1) of public bodies, and (2) of private persons, or bodies of persons. To inquire generally how such rights are exercised, and particularly what accommodation is given in return for charges levied; in what ratio market tolls stand to the value of goods on which they are levied, and how far the regulation of markets by means of bye-laws or otherwise, market rents, stallages, and tolls, and tolls affecting market towns, are restrictive of trade. To report as to the advisability of compelling the transfer of all such rights to local authorities; of prohibiting the farming of tolls and stallages, of prohibiting the placing of restrictions on the sale of goods in a market that may be lawfully sold elsewhere, of providing by means of the incomes from markets or otherwise for the extinction of the capital account chargeable to such markets, and for declaring all markets to be free and open" (Mr. Bradlaugh) v., [313] 1642; Question proposed, "That the words, &c.;" after short debate, Question put, and agreed to

MR. SPEAKER'S INDISPOSITION

Mr. Courtney (The Chairman of Ways and Means) took the Chair as Deputy Speaker April 4, 5, 6, & 7

Celebration of the Jubilee Year of Her Majesty's Reign in London—Resolution, "That this House will attend at the Church of St. Margaret's, Westminster, on Sunday next, the 22nd May, [315] 258, 259

Mr. Speaker explains the course he proposes to take (with the Members of the House) in attending the Thanksgiving Service in Westminster Abbey, [315] 730

Mr. Speaker acquaints the House that the University of Oxford had done him the honour to propose to confer upon him the degree of D.C.L., and requests the indulgence of the House to attend at Oxford for the purpose of receiving that degree. Agreed to; and Mr. Speaker was congratulated upon the honour which was about to be conferred upon him

Mr. Courtney, the Chairman of Ways and Means, to take the Chair as Deputy Speaker during Mr. Speaker's absence, [316] 564, 565

Disrespectful Language towards Mr. Speaker

Order—Mr. Speaker: I cannot allow the hon. Member (Mr. Parnell) to question the ruling of the Chair. If the hon. Member desires to do that, he must do it in the regular way, and by asking the House to pronounce whether I was right or wrong, [311] 212; [313] 371

Those remarks of the hon. and learned Gentleman (Mr. T. M. Healy) are scarcely respectful to the Chair. . . . . I must call upon the hon. Gentleman to leave that line of remark, [311] 954

Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The tendency of the hon. Member's remarks now is to dispute the ruling of the Chair, [310] 1833

The Chairman of Committees—Mr. T. M. Healy: I shall be glad if the Chairman of Committees would take part in the debate, and inform us—— Mr. Speaker: The hon. and learned Member will see that that is in the nature of an appeal to the Chair from the Chairman of Ways and Means, and is quite out of Order, [311] 849

Reflections on the Chair

Dr. Tanner: I do not like to indulge in any innuendo; but, during the first Session I was in the House, I frequently noticed one of the Whips going to the Chair—— Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I must ask the hon. Gentleman not to pursue that line of innuendo.—Dr. Tanner: I had no intention—— Mr. Speaker: I must ask the hon. Gentleman to withdraw the expression he has used, [312] 482

Mr. Deasy: I was proceeding to ask the right hon. Gentleman opposite to reply to the right hon. Gentleman the Member for South Leeds (Sir Lyon Playfair). I was expressing my surprise when your interruption—— Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I must ask the hon. Gentleman to be more respectful, or I must take very serious notice of his remarks, [312] 92

THE NEW RULES OF PROCEDURE (1887)—

Precedence—Resolution

In the course of the debate on Resolution to give precedence to the new Rules of Procedure, Mr. Parnell proposed to add, "in the opinion of this House the state of Ireland is such as to require the disclosure." . . . . Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I am sorry to interrupt the hon. Gentleman; but I must point out that we have got to the word "day" in the third line of the Resolution; and, therefore, it would not be competent to the hon. Member to move the Resolution he proposes, [310] 1796, 1797

Precedence of the New Rules of Procedure over the Orders of the Day

In the debate on the Resolution to give precedence to the new Rules of Procedure, after the Resolution had already been agreed to and passed by the House, Mr. Parnell proposed to add a Proviso. Mr. Speaker said: In my opinion, that is in direct opposition to the first proposition. If the Government have power to give precedence among the Orders of the Day to the proposed Rules of Procedure by the first proposition, by the second they are forbidden to do so under the terms of the hon. Gentleman's provision. The two together will have a militating effect one upon the other, [310] 1800, 1801

Mr. Speaker refers to the difficulty arising from an hon. Member who has addressed the House on the Main Question speaking again on Amendments, under circumstances stated, [311] 199, 204, 207, 209

If the 1st Resolution is passed, it will come into operation immediately, [311] 208

I would remind the hon. Gentleman (Mr. Conybeare) that the principle of coercion is not the subject of discussion, but the question of the application of the clôture when coercive measures are introduced, [311] 523, 525, 526

Mr. Courtney desired to put a Question in reference to the adjourned debate on the Rules of Procedure, in respect of which there were three Amendments on the Paper to omit the words "if the consent of the Chair has been previously obtained," and three other Amendments to insert other words after the word "made;" and Mr. Courtney asked whether these Amendments ought not to be taken before the Amendments to leave out "if the consent of the Chair has been previously obtained?"—Mr. Speaker thought that these Amendments should take precedence of the Amendments to leave out "if the consent of the Chair has been previously obtained," inasmuch as they come after the word "made," [311] 894

After a Division, an Amendment proposed (Mr. W. H. Smith)—Mr. Speaker was proceeding to put the Question, when Dr. Clark rose and moved the adjournment of the debate—Mr. Speaker: I consider that Motion an abuse of the Rules of the House, and I shall put the Question forthwith, [311] 1647, 1648

Mr. Speaker explains at length the situation after the Motion "That the Speaker do now leave the Chair"—On that Question, supposing that the closure has been moved and the Speaker's consent given, the Question then would be "That the Speaker do now leave the Chair," as against the Amendment; and that Question would become the substantive Question before the House. That would not preclude discussion taking place on a subsequent Amendment, because it does not follow that a Member would make application to the Chair to apply the closure to any subsequent Amendment; it would not necessarily be shut out by the closure operating against the former Amendment [See Text], [311] 1683

The hon. and learned Member is not entitled to discuss the words of another Amendment, [312] 46

Order of Amendments.—The whole point is whether the closure, on being applied, will prevent subsequent Amendments—what may be called "bogus Amendments"—coming in. The whole question is whether, upon the closure being applied, such Amendments will not be ruled out, [312] 49, 102, 103, 434

The First Resolution of the proposed New Rules of Procedure having been agreed to, Mr. W. H. Smith moved, "That this Resolution be a Standing Order of the House." Question arising as to further proceeding with the Resolutions, Mr. Speaker said: The Question before the House is, whether this Resolution should be a Standing or a Sessional Order. I do not think a general debate can take place upon a mere question of time, [312] 801

Mr. T. P. Gill: What I wish to know is, whether your ruling extends to the preclusion of Amendments to the Motion, "That you do leave the Chair," for the purpose of going into Committee of Supply upon Civil Service Estimates; and whether your ruling will extend, further, to the preclusion of any debate upon the subjects to which these Notices apply in Committee of Supply? . . . Mr. Speaker: I cannot presume to settle cases before they arise. I must see and hear what is said in debate before I can give an opinion, [312] 859, 860

Sir W. Harcourt: There is another inquiry I should like to make. The right hon. Gentleman the First Lord of the Treasury has assumed the consent of the Speaker to the closure. Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I would point out that the Motion now before the House is one for the adjournment of the debate; and, further than that, I regard these constant references as to whether my consent has been obtained or not as utterly and entirely irregular. I think it fair to myself, and just to the House, that if any insinuation of that sort is made it is unworthy, and it is untrue. No assent of mine has been asked or withheld, [313] 177, 178

Great Eastern Railway—Mr. Labouchere: I rise to a point of procedure, Sir. I claim to move that the Question be now put. Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member having made that Motion, I decline to put it, [315] 692

Mr. T. M. Healy: I wish to put a Question to you, Sir, on a point of Order—namely, whether an hon. Member who, in the course of the debate, has spoken on the Main Question, can move the closure, having regard to the fact that a Member who has spoken on the Main Question cannot move an Amendment? Mr. Speaker: It is quite competent for an hon. Member to move the closure under the circumstances specified by the hon. and learned Member, [315] 612, 905

Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) Bill—Committee. The First Lord of the Treasury moved a Resolution directing the Chairman to put forthwith the Question in regard to such clause or clauses as had not been previously decided. To which an Amendment moved by Mr. Parnell. Mr. Speaker explained the way in which he proposed to put the Question, so as not to preclude the consideration of other Amendments, [315] 1616, 1617, 1618

Technical Schools (Scotland) Bill—Mr. Sinclair: I claim to move "That the Question be now put." Mr. W. H. Smith having objected—Mr. Speaker: I decline to put that Question, [318] 1953

Mr. T. M. Healy asked whether it was competent for the right hon. Gentleman (Mr. W. H. Smith), after having made a speech, to move that the Question be now put? Mr. Speaker: That point was settled the other day, [319] 1015

NEW RULES OF PROCEDURE (1882)—MR. SPEAKER'S RULINGS.

Rule 1 (Putting the Question)

The Debate on the Address having been continued for 16 nights—it appearing to Mr. Speaker that the subject had been adequately discussed, and that it was the evident sense of the House that the Question be now put, he so informed the House: Whereupon Mr. W. H. Smith moved, "That the Question be now put;" Question put; Ayes 291, Noes 81, [310] 1846, 1852, 1854

Rule 2 (Motions for Adjournment before Public Business)

Mr. Dillwyn having asked leave to move the Adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance—but, it appearing to Mr. Speaker that the subject which the hon. Member asked leave to discuss was included in the Notice of Motion which stood upon the Notice Paper for Tuesday, the 1st March, in the name of the hon. Member for West Belfast, Mr. Speaker declined to submit that Motion to the pleasure of the House, [310] 1777, 1778

Afterwards, Mr. Dillon attempting to refer to the same subject, Mr. Speaker said: The hon. Member is acting now in flagrant violation of what I have just laid down. If the hon. Member refers to jury-packing I shall be obliged to interfere, 1829

Mr. M. Healy: I wish to ask the leave of the House to call attention to a definite matter of urgent public importance—namely, the breach by the right hon. Gentleman the Chief Secretary for Ireland of a pledge given by him in his place in this House on the 17th May, on a point arising on the Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) Bill.—Mr. Speaker: That would be an extremely doubtful matter for me to put. It refers to a matter arising in debate; and I do not think that would be a definite matter of urgent public importance which I could submit to the House. It refers to a previous debate, and it may be a matter of future debate.—Mr. M. Healy: Do I understand you to rule that Motion would not be in Order?—Mr. Speaker: Yes; that is my ruling, [316] 1613

Mr. T. E. Ellis moved the Adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance—namely, the determination of the Government to try by special jury 31 men charged with riot during the collection of tithes at Llangwm, North Wales.—Mr. Speaker, according to the New Rule, called on those Members who supported the Motion to rise in their places; and, not less than 40 Members having accordingly risen, Mr. Ellis proceeded, [317] 1353, 1354, 1362

Mr. Labouchere having obtained leave to move the Adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance,—namely, our relations with the Turkish and Egyptian Governments and the Egyptian people: after debate—Mr. Speaker: I think that it is my duty to interfere. The hon. Gentleman rose to move the Adjournment of the House for the discussion of a definite matter of urgent public importance. Although the House has given its sanction, the remarks of the hon Gentleman cannot be said to refer to a definite matter of urgent public importance, because he is going over the whole relations of this country with France, and proposes to do so with regard to Russia as well as Egypt; and I think it is an abuse of the Standing Order to take so wide a range, [319] 95

DIVISIONS

Corrections of Errors

Mr. Parnell having pointed out that there was an error in the Official List, and begged to move that the Official List be corrected.—Mr. Speaker: It is not necessary for the hon. Member to move anything. As the hon. Member has given me the information I will take care that an errata be inserted correcting the error and rectifying the Official List, [310] 1415

Mr. Sexton asked whether the attention of the Speaker had been drawn to the fact that the number of Votes in the Division List of last Friday was given as 319; whereas only 348 names appeared in the List; and, whether the record could be amended in that respect?—Mr. Speaker: If that is so the correction will be made in due couers of time, [312] 1623

Pairing

Lord Randolph Churchill: I wish to ask whether there is any precedent for discussion in this House as to arrangements which may take place between Members in regard to Divisions; whether the practice of pairing has ever been formally recognized by this House; whether pairs are ever recorded by the House in any of its records; whether it has ever been the practice of this House, in its corporate capacity, to take any notice whatever of the practice known as pairing; and whether, if such be the case, a departure from the ancient practice might not be attended with the greatest possible inconvenience? Mr. Speaker said, he had thought it best to throw no obstacle in the way of this Question being asked—especially as there was great doubt in the minds of hon. Members as to what the proper course was; and that he should allow a quasi-official statement to be made which might set the minds of hon. Members at rest, and establish a precedent for the future. [An arrangement was suggested by Mr. Akers-Douglas, the Government Whip, and adopted, for which see text], [312] 688

Mr. Speaker expresses his approval of a plan for facilitating the taking of the Divisions of this House, and proposed that it should be tried as soon as the Clerk of the Works had made certain slight structural alterations necessary, [316] 564

these circumstances I give my voice with the Ayes. Mr. Sexton: I ask you, Sir, whether it is not in accordance with usage that the reasons for Mr. Speaker's casting vote should be given, that they may be entered on the Journals of the House? Mr. Speaker: The usual entry will be made in the Votes, [317] 2015

PRIVILEGE

Sir Wilfrid Lawson called attention to a sentence which appeared in The Times newspaper of this morning [February 22] concerning Members of this House, and reflecting, as he thought, on the action of this House itself. The hon. Baronet, having read the sentence referred to, asked whether he should be in Order if he made a Motion on the subject? Mr. Speaker: My attention has been called only a short time ago to the article to which the hon. Baronet refers; but, however grave the charges and imputations made in that article may be, I do not think it is a case of Privilege; and Mr. Speaker referred at length to the restrictions and limitations in respect of Privilege imposed upon the House by itself, [311] 287, 288

The right hon. Gentleman (Mr. Chaplin) has asked me whether my attention has been called to some words attributed to the hon. Member for the Camborne Division of Cornwall (Mr. Conybeare). I this morning saw the speech in which the words referred to occurred. The right hon. Gentleman asks me whether they constitute a breach of Privilege. Unquestionably it is a matter affecting Privilege; but, of course, whether it is a breach of Privilege or not rests with the House to decide. But the matter is graver than that. It is not a reflection on me personally, but a reflection upon the House through the elected Speaker of this House. If any hon. Member thinks fit to impugn my conduct in the Chair, it is competent to him to bring my conduct under the notice of the House, and by a distinct Motion to challenge every act and every word of mine, [313] 371

Mr. Parnell and The Times newspaper—Alleged forgery of a Letter—Mr. Sexton: I wish to put a Question to you, Sir—affecting a matter of Privilege. . . . . As the matter is one which affects the veracity of an hon Member of this House in respect to a statement made by him in this House in the discharge of his duty, I wish to know whether I am not entitled to ascertain from the hon. Member for South Tyrone (Mr. T. W. Russell) whether the forged letter was in his possession; how it came into his possession; and if it passed directly from him to the Editor of The Times?

Mr. Speaker: Certainly, I think it is, under the circumstances, competent for the hon. Member to put that Question in order to elicit information, [313] 1249

The Times newspaper—"Parnellism and Crime"—I must remind the hon. Member (Sir Charles Lewis) that he proposes to bring before the House a question of Privilege, which is a definite matter; and the question of Privilege which I understand he is going to raise is an article which appeared in The Times newspaper with reference to the hon. Member for East Mayo. I do not think the hon. Member is entitled to review the whole of a preceding debate upon a question which refers to a specific article in a newspaper, which appeared yesterday, and which contains the charge which I understand he is about to deal with as a question of Privilege, [314] 702

The hon. Baronet (Sir Charles Lewis) is compelled to conclude with a Motion, as he has raised a question of Privilege, [314] 703, 706, 707, 717, 719

The ordinary course of procedure is that I should officially direct that only that portion of the article which was read at the Table should be put upon the Votes. It is competent for the hon. Gentleman to move that the whole of the article be printed with the Votes, [314] 754, 757, 758

Mr. Speaker: It does not appear to me that the speech of the hon. Gentleman (Mr. Brodrick) amounts to a question of Privilege. I do not say that the hon. Gentleman is not fully entitled to take notice of it; but, as far as I can gather, the words in the speech of the hon. Gentleman did not refer to any action in this House—that was the limitation I placed on the question of Privilege, [313] 1803

Midland Great Western Railway of Ireland Bill—The hon. Member is not entitled, in discussing a Private Bill of this character, to bring forward a matter of Privilege. A question of Privilege must be raised separately after this Bill has been disposed of, and not at the time of Private Business, [315] 492

An attack made upon the Members of a Committee is equivalent to an attack made upon the House itself. No witness has a right to go away from a Committee Room, and then impugn the character of the Gentlemen who compose the Committee, [315] 650

Interference of Peers at Elections—North Paddington Election—Sir Wilfrid Lawson, having stated that certain Peers had sent their carriages to convey voters to the poll at the recent Election for North Paddington, moved a Resolution thereon.—Mr. Speaker: The House will decide whether the evidence is sufficient to found a conclusion that a breach of Privilege has been committed, [317] 361, 365

A Committee cannot be moved for without Notice. A question of Privilege is raised without Notice, [317] 366, 367

The Hornsey Election—Sir Wilfrid Lawson, having drawn attention to the statement that certain Conservative Peers had lent their carriages to assist in conveying voters to the poll at the recent Hornsey Election, asked whether any Member of the Government was prepared to make an investigation into the matter with a view to safeguarding the Privileges of this House?—Mr. Speaker said: I must remind the hon. Baronet that the House has already decided the point in another case; and I do not think it can be raised again as a question of Privilege, [317] 1489, 1490

Words Spoken outside the House—Complaint made of certain language used by the hon. Member for Mid Cork (Dr. Tanner) in the Lobby of this House.—Mr. Speaker: I must say that the question as between the hon. Member for Mid Cork (Dr. Tanner) and the hon. Member for Devizes (Mr. Long) is one which stands upon its own merits. Anything that has passed on any previous evening in reference to the conduct of the hon. Member for Mid Cork must be entirely kept out of the question, and should have no influence in guiding the action of the House, [317] 1185

On a subsequent night (the adjourned debate having been resumed) Dr. Tanner offered an apology, and was thereon directed by Mr. Speaker to withdraw; but, Mr. Long desiring to offer some remarks upon Dr. Tanner's statement, Mr. Speaker said: If it be the general wish of the House, I see no objection to the hon. Member for Mid Cork being present. Dr. Tanner was, with the assent of the House, recalled, and resumed his seat, [317] 1633, 1638, 1650

Mr. Speaker intervenes, and the Motion and Amendment are withdrawn, [317] 1663

Mr. Howell, Member for Bethnal Green, N.E., drew attention to a complaint he had made some time ago (namely, in March) of certain words used towards him by Sir Robert Fowler, in the Lobby of this House, when Mr. Speaker informed him that as the circumstances to which he referred had not occurred within the House, it was not a matter of which the House could take cognizance.—This subject having been revived by Mr. T. M. Healy on the 19th July, Mr. Speaker said: It is impossible to revive now a question of anything that happened in March last; nor has it any reference to the question which, unfortunately, arose yesterday, [317] 1188, 1352

PUBLIC BILLS

Crofters' Holdings (Scotland) Bill—Lords' Amendments to Commons' Amendments—Consideration of Lords' Reasons. Mr. Speaker: The Question I shall put from the Chair is, "That this House do not insist upon the Amendment with which the Lords have disagreed." It will not be competent to move any Amendment upon that; and the course taken by the right hon. and learned Gentleman (Mr. J. B. Balfour) will be to say "No" to that proposition. It may be competent, if the right hon. and learned Gentleman agrees to that proposition, to move afterwards an Amendment in the form of a provision, or any Amendment, in short, which may appear fit to the right hon. and learned Gentleman dealing with the subject, [318] 175, 176

Distressed Unions (Ireland) Bill—Committee. Mr. Dillon: What course do the Government propose to take in regard to this Bill? I propose that it be considered this day three months. Mr. Speaker: It is put down for this day. Mr. Dillon: Then, if the Government will give no further explanation, I will propose that the Order be discharged. Will such a Motion be in Order? Mr. Speaker: It will not be in Order. Mr. Dillon: Then, I will propose that the Bill be considered this day month. Mr. Speaker: That would be virtually to defeat the Bill, and it is not a Motion known to this House, [318] 485

Irish Land Law Bill—Lords' Amendments to Commons' Amendments considered. Amendment, Clause B, line 9—Mr. Dillon moved to disagree with the Lords' Amendment. Mr. Speaker said it was not competent to the hon. Member to make that Motion, as a Motion that the House agree to the Lords' Amendment was already before the House, [319] 299

With a view to testing the bona fides of the Government in this matter, Mr. T. M. Healy desired to know whether he would be in Order in moving a provision that Section 8 of the Irish Land Law Act should be held to apply to such holdings, with this modification—that the landlord might, at any time during the continuance of the statutory term, resume possession of the holding?—Mr. Speaker said, that the Amendment would raise a separate question, which might be entertained when the House had decided whether it would agree with the Lords' Amendment, [319] 984

Mr. Speaker: I understood the hon. and learned Gentleman (Mr. T. M. Healy) rose to a point of Order; but he is now moving an Amendment which I think is not in Order. It is entirely new matter. The "difference in prices, as aforesaid," has nothing whatever to do with the arrears of rent—it is importing matter totally foreign to the Lords' Amendments. . . . The Lords' Amendments are pertinent to the matter of the clause. In the clause there is no reference to arrears of rent; therefore, it is not in Order to introduce the question of arrears in this clause, or in the Lords' Amendments to it, [319] 1057, 1058

Oaths Bill—Dropped Order.—Moved, "That the Bill be now read a second time."—Moved, "That this House do now adjourn."—The effect of the Motion being carried would be that the Bill would be dropped from the Order Book. It could be revived on Notice, to-morrow, by an ordinary Motion. It would then be subject to the same condition as now—the block might be interposed at any moment, [314] 1424, 1432

The Half-Past Twelve o'Clock Rule—"Blocking"

Duke of Connaught's Leave Bill—Mr. Speaker: If any hon. Member objects that is sufficient to block the Bill, [314] 149

Crofters' Holdings (Scotland) Bill—A Verbal Block. Mr. T. M. Healy: I should like to ask you, Mr. Speaker, for the protection of hon. Gentlemen, if, under the circumstances, a verbal objection were taken to proceeding with the Bill now, it would not act in the same way as a block under the Half-Past Twelve o'Clock Rule? Mr. Speaker: In reply to the hon. and learned Gentleman I have to say it is not so. A verbal block would apply only to a Notice of Motion, [316] 153

School Fees (Non-Paupers) Bill—Mr. Speaker: It is obvious that if a Bill which has been on the Paper for some time, and is blocked, is suddenly revived, great hardship would be caused by preventing the power of blocking it. If my memory serves me aright, I think I have already ruled that a block ought to adhere to a Bill, under such circumstances as those referred to, until the measure appears reinstated upon the Paper in the usual way, and there has been an opportunity for the original block to expire, [317] 1741

Instructions to Committees

Mr. Dillon gave Notice that in the Committee on the Distressed Unions (Ireland) Bill he would move that it be an Instruction to the Committee to provide for loans being granted at a low rate of interest, as recommended by the Report of the Inquiry Committee—Mr. Speaker said the Bill was on the Paper for that evening, and the Resolution of the hon. Gentleman would require one day's clear Notice, [317] 358

Public Parks and Works (Metropolis) Bill—Mr. Kimber: I should like to ask for your direction as to whether, assuming that the ratepayers of Wandsworth wish to place their case before the Committee on the Bill, their locus standi could be objected to? Mr. Speaker: In reply to the hon. Member's Question, I can only say that the Committee will, of course, decide its own locus standi. Mr. Kimber: Then do I understand that, to make it clear, I ought to move a Special Instruction to the Committee? Mr. Speaker: It would be most unusual to fetter the Committee with an Instruction in the sense which the hon. Member refers to. It would be utterly without example, [315] 802

Money Bills

Coal Mines, &c. Regulation Bill—Mr. Speaker said that, as the proposal involved expenditure which would be chargeable to the rates, it was out of Order. Mr. W. Abraham said that, under the circumstances, he would only move the first part of the Amendment. Mr. Speaker said, that in that case the proposal would necessarily be inoperative, [320] 1124

East India Stock Conversion Bill—Bill reported. Mr. Chance: I do not know whether, by general consent, the consideration of this Bill can be taken now? Mr. Speaker: It cannot be taken now; it must be taken on another day. It is a Money Bill, [315] 627, 789

Bills Relating to Revenue

The Bill which is referred to by the hon. Gentleman is a Bill which bears the title of "The Herb and Ginger Beer Makers' Licence Bill," whereby the hon. Gentleman proposes to impose an Inland Revenue Duty on certain non-intoxicating beverages. It is impossible for the hon. Gentleman to bring in a Bill of that nature. It would be necessary that such a Bill should be introduced in Committee of the Whole House, on the recommendation of a Minister of the Crown, [314] 840

Colonial Service (Pensions) Bill

Dr. Clark: I see there is Notice of opposition to this Bill by the hon. Member for Camborne, and I ask whether the hon. Baronet (Sir Herbert Maxwell) is in Order in proceeding with the Bill?—Mr. Speaker: It is a Money Bill, [311] 552

Mr. Sexton: As a matter of Order, Mr. Speaker, does not the opposition prevent the Motion from being taken?—Mr. Kenyon: There is no Notice of objection. — Mr. Speaker: As it is a new Motion, and the hon. Gentleman (Mr. T. E. Ellis) objects, it will have to be deferred, [311] 557

Mr. Hunter: I rise to Order. Is it in Order to proceed with this Bill (Superannuation Acts Amendment Bill) which is blocked?—Mr. Speaker: This is a Money Bill, and the Notice of Amendment does not apply, [320] 1812

PRIVATE BILLS (by Order)

Belfast Main Drainage Bill—Petition and Order of Leave [1st Feb., 1886] read; Bill read 1° and 2°; The Bill having been reported and considered in the last Session of Parliament, Motion now made, "That the Bill be ordered to be read 3°." Mr. Sexton asked that further progress might be postponed with the Bill?—Mr. Speaker: I have to point out to the hon. Member that the present Motion is in pursuance of a Resolution of the House, in order that the Bill may be replaced in the same position as it occupied in the last Session. The Motion now is only that the Bill be ordered to be read 3°; and the Motion for the third reading will come up on Friday, when the hon. Member will have an opportunity of making any observation upon that stage. Two days' interval must elapse between the present Order and the Motion for the third reading, [310] 385, 386

In the matter of the Belfast Main Drainage Bill, Mr. Speaker expresses his opinion that it would not be out of Order, nor would it be improper, to restrict the action of the Corporation in reference to the incurring of any liability in respect of the drainage works until the examination of the works itself has received the sanction of the voters and ratepayers of the borough, [317] 36, 37

Dublin, Wicklow, and Wexford, &c. Railway.—Consideration of Bill, as amended. Question, "That the Bill, as amended, be now considered," put, and agreed to.—Mr. T. M. Healy: May I ask you, Mr. Speaker, what Question has been now considered?—Mr. Speaker: The Bill now stands for third reading on some future day, and the hon. and learned Gentleman will be able to put down whatever Amendments he may think proper, [318] 344, 345

Great Eastern Railway Bill—The Motion having been made that the Bill be re-committed in respect of certain clauses, it would not be in Order to discuss the whole subject-matter of the Bill. If the Bill be re-committed, it will necessarily have to come down to the House again, and the hon. Member will then be in a position to move the Motion which now stands in his name, [314] 224, 226, 227, 228

Manchester Ship Canal—It is not necessary to move the rejection of the Motion. The Question is "That the Standing Orders be suspended," and that Motion may be met by a negative, [315] 1346, 1350, 1703

Municipal Trust Company Bill — Moved, "That the Bill be now read a second time."—Dr. Tanner: I beg to move that the discussion of the Bill be deferred.—Mr. Speaker: As the Bill is down on the Paper by Order, it is not competent for the hon. Member to move that the discussion be deferred, [313] 870

Sutton District Water Bill—Insertion of New Clauses in a Bill.—The hon. Gentleman proposes to re-commit the Bill for the purpose of inserting new clauses, and the discussion must be confined to the new clauses which he proposes to insert, [314] 932, 933

West Lancashire Railway Bill—Votes disallowed for Interest.—There can be no doubt that the votes of hon. Members have been frequently disallowed in consequence of their interest in Private Bills; but I am not aware that such disqualification extends so far as to exclude them from taking part in the advocacy of, or opposition to, any particular measure, [313] 1615, 1616

Weymouth and Melcombe Regis Corporation Bill—If the Bill is opposed, the second reading must stand over, [311] 980

Motion made, "That the Bill be now read a second time." Dr. Tanner criticized the provisions of the Bill.—Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member is not entitled to go through the clauses of the Bill in this manner, [311] 1055

Instructions to Committees

Mr. T. M. Healy: Founding myself on the precedent of the Manchester Ship Canal Bill, [316] 26, I will move an Instruction to the Committee to report to the House on Monday. — Mr. Speaker: The hon. and learned Member cannot do that now. He must give Notice of such a Motion, [318] 192

Sutton District Water Bill—The Bill must, in the first place, be read a second time, and the hon. Member may then give Notice of an Instruction, [310] 1542

PUBLIC PETITIONS

Alleged Fictitious Signatures—The Coal and Wine Duties—Special Report of the Select Committee on Public Petitions brought up. The Report condemned a Petition from Haggerston in favour of the continuance of the Coal and Wine Duties, which it stated to be a distinct violation of the Privileges of this House, and to call for some mark of its disapproval. Sir Charles Forster, Chairman of that Committee, moved that the Order for the reception of the Petition be read, and discharged. Mr. Bradlaugh asked if it was competent for him to allow the Motion of the hon. Baronet to be carried, and then follow it up with a Motion for the appointment of a Select Committee on a subsequent day?—Mr. Speaker: It will be competent for the hon. Member to submit an Amendment in the event of the debate being adjourned. If he prefers that course he can move an Amendment at once. Perhaps the hon. Member will consider it the better course to move the adjournment of the debate, so that the matter may be brought under the full consideration of the House, [313] 1779

Alleged Fictitious Signatures—Mr. Webster said, he had a Petition from the Anti-Wine and Coal Dues Association, St. Pancras, against the continuance of the Coal and Wine Dues, as to which he ought to inform the House that he had received information that a great many of the signatures were forgeries and fictitious.—Mr. Speaker: The best course will be for the hon. Member to present the Petition, and it can then be referred to the Committee sitting to inquire into the presentation of several other Petitions, [314] 1450

Mr. Speaker: The position is that, this man (Reginald Bidmead) having confessed himself guilty, the House is asked to decide that he should attend at the Bar, to be reprimanded by me. I apprehend that the adoption of that course would not prevent the case of any other person being dealt with, [316] 592, 593, 594—Mr. Bradlaugh: If the Orders on the Paper be discharged, and the Petitions cancelled, will they cease to be within the jurisdiction of this House?—Mr. Speaker: It would not prevent notice being taken of them if further proceedings were ordered with respect to them, [316] 592, 593, 594

Case of Israel Lipski, Convicted of Murder—Mr. Courtney said, he was somewhat surprised to find that the hon. Member had presented to the House a Petition that ought not to have been presented at all to the House of Commons. The Petition was addressed to the Secretary of State for the Home Department, and it should have been laid before him at the Home Office.—Mr. Speaker said: The presentation of the Petition to this House is altogether irregular; and no notice, consequently, can be taken of it, [319] 1256

RULES OF DEBATE

Use of the Queen's Name—Undoubtedly the latter part of the hon. Member's Question was contrary to the established traditions of this House, by bringing the name of Her Majesty and the Crown directly into the proceedings of the House in the way he did, [318] 1373

Relevancy—Mr. Illingworth: I wish to ask you, Sir, whether I should be in Order in moving an Amendment by way of amendment to that now before the House?—Mr. Speaker: It is quite in Order to move an Amendment to the Amendment, [310] 733

Notices—Mr. Chaplin: I notice, Sir, that last night a Notice was placed on the Paper by the hon. Member for Camborne to the effect that he will call attention to the general condition of agriculture, as requiring the immediate attention of Parliament. I wish to know, Sir, from you whether the effect of that Notice will be to prevent the discussion of the agricultural situation on the Report of the Address this afternoon?—Mr. Speaker: I consider that the right hon. Gentleman will be debarred from discussing the question, inasmuch as a Motion on the subject is on the Paper for a future day, [311] 15

Committee of Supply—Mr. Sexton: Sir, I gave you Notice of a Motion which I proposed to submit on the Motion that you leave the Chair for the purpose of enabling the House to go into Committee of Supply. I do not find my Notice on the Paper; and therefore I wish to know whether you have ruled it to be out of Order?—Mr. Speaker: This being a Monday, and the first Order of the Day being for the consideration of Supplementary Estimates in Committee of Supply, it will be my duty, the moment the Order is read, to leave the Chair, without putting the Question, [311] 724

Mr. Labouchere: In order to put an end to the Bill, it must be remembered that the repealing measure has not only to pass the House of Commons, but the House of Lords as well. Who were the Members of that House? They were the subservient political slaves of the Prime Minister. [Cries of "Oh, oh!" and "Order!"] Mr. Speaker: The hon. Gentleman is not treating the other branch of the Legislature with proper courtesy—a courtesy always due from one House to the other, [313] 101

Offensive Words in reference to the other House—Mr. Harris: The Bill (Irish Land Law Bill) contained some large and broad principles; but those principles were disfigured by the bad, mean, pettifogging ways of noble Lords in "another place."—Mr. Speaker: Order! The hon. Member cannot speak in such terms without disregarding the courtesy due from one House to the other; and, moreover, his remarks are not pertinent to the Amendment before the House, [319] 303

Mr. Conybeare: All I can say is that it is our duty to take our stand, in a matter like this, against what I do not hesitate to call the insolent interference of the Lords.—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. Member has used an expression not consistent with the ordinary courtesy of this House towards the other House. That is a word that ought not to be applied to the other House of Parliament, [319] 1680

Amendments—The Question, "That the Clause be now put," would be open to amendment, [311] 1682

Amendments—Mr. Speaker: There is manifestly great inconvenience in discussing the general question of land on an Amendment to a Motion for the introduction of a Bill for the amendment of the Criminal Law. The Amendment, in my opinion, must bear some relation to the Bill to which it refers, [313] 249

Amendments—A New Clause—Metropolitan Open Spaces Act (1881) Extension Bill—Mr. Speaker: I must remind the hon. Baronet (Sir John Lubbock) that this clause ought properly to be moved by the hon. Gentleman in whose name it stands; and I must point out to the House that, in his absence, I do not think it could be moved.—Mr. Chance: Cannot it be done by the general consent of the House?—Mr. Speaker: It would introduce an inconvenient precedent, [313] 1547, 1548

Amendments—Mr. Speaker: I observe that in the Amendment of the hon. Member it is proposed to leave out all the words after "That." I may point out that there is another Amendment on the Paper dealing with subsequent words, which will be out of Order if the first Amendment is put in this form, [316] 887

Amendments — The whole principle is involved in this Amendment; and if that falls, then the Amendment of the hon. Gentleman falls with it, [317] 388, 1091

Amendments—I call the attention of the hon. Member for Inverness-shire to the fact that the House has already amended the clause, and the Motion to leave it out of the Bill cannot now be made.—Dr. Cameron: I ask, Sir, if it is not the practice first to amend a clause, and then to put the Question, "That the Clause, as amended, stand part of the Bill?"—Mr. Speaker: That is not so on Report, [317] 888, 889

Supply—Votes on Account—Mr. A. O'Connor: May I ask you, Sir, if it is practicable for the Government to take a Vote on Account without first moving that you leave the Chair?—Mr. Speaker: Yes; it has been repeatedly done. . . . . It is not competent for an hon. Member to move an Amendment to the Motion that the Speaker leave the Chair for the purpose of considering a Vote on Account, [312] 376, 377

Motion to insert a New Clause—It is not competent for the hon. Gentleman to move a new clause in the absence of the hon. Member in whose name it stands, [314] 336

Mr. Fraser-Mackintosh: In the absence of my hon. Friend the Member for the College Division of Glasgow, I beg to move the Amendment standing in his name. Mr. Speaker: It is not competent to move a clause standing in the name of another hon. Member, [317] 593

Question—Mr. Speaker: The hon. Gentleman asks this Question, I suppose, in consequence of the ruling I gave the other day. If the hon. Gentleman is personally interested in the Question, he can put it; but, as there is nothing personal in the Question, it would be rather a stretch of power for the hon. Gentleman to put it for another Member without having received the sanction of the latter, [320] 30

Notice—The hon. Gentleman (Mr. Conybeare) is not entitled to move any Resolution, inasmuch as he has given no Notice of it. The Order of the House is that a Resolution must be in the hands of Members, and due Notice must be given of it. The hon. Member cannot spring, so to speak, a Resolution upon the House, [314] 1718

Motions set down for Half-Past Four—It is not competent for the hon. and learned Member to dispute my ruling; but I may tell him, for his information, that Motions at half-past 4 are not included in the ordinary Motions for the day—they stand in a category by themselves, [315] 414

Exceptional Motion—Precedence—The Resolution giving precedence to the Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) Bill was that the Bill should have precedence over all the Orders of the Day and Notices of Motion, including the Rules of Procedure. The Motion now before the House—Jubilee Thanksgiving Service (Westminster Abbey)—is an exceptional Motion, made for the general convenience of the House, and so stands in a category by itself, and has no bearing on the Business of the House. . . . The hon. and learned Member will note the distinction between the Business of the House and the general convenience of the House on an exceptional occasion, [316] 60

The Standing Order which rules that while Supply and the Committee of Ways and Means are open the first Order of the Day on Friday shall be either Supply or Ways and Means is distinctly superseded by the Order of the House giving precedence to the Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) Bill. Clearly, if the Government were to take Supply, the Motions preceding the Committee of Supply would have to be gone through, and all such Motions would be preliminary to my leaving of the Chair, [316] 418

Competency of Members to put Questions upon a Notice of Motion—Mr. Dillon: I wish to ask whether we may not be permitted to ask Questions of the right hon. Gentleman the Leader of the House in reference to the Notice of Motion he has just given? Mr. Speaker: It would be quite contrary to Order, [316] 1222, 1223

Questions

Disallowance of Question 21 (Feb. 27)—Mr. Speaker disallows this Question, as containing an insinuation and imputation of a very grave character indeed; not only against the Government, but against the witnesses who gave their evidence before Lord Cowper's Commission; and added: There have been several instances this Session of Questions having been presented to me which contained imputations and reflections upon persons outside this House; and severely condemns this practice, [310] 763

Disallowance of Question—Mr. J. O'Connor: I wish to ask the right hon. Gentleman whether this Lord Cork is the same Earl of Cork and Orrery who is Master of the Buckhounds at a salary of——Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The Question which the hon. Member is now putting is one that has been refused on my authority, [311] 174

As a general rule, communications are sent to hon. Members whenever there is any irregularity in their Questions. The reason why the hon. Gentleman's Question was rejected was because it contained matter of argument. . . . . It is not usual to put down a Question which has already received a full reply, [313] 333, 334

Answers to Questions not to be debated—Unquestionably, in answer to a Question, it is the Question itself that has to be answered, and debate is not permitted, [310] 167

Mr. T. P. O'Connor: I wish to ask you, Sir, as a matter of Order, whether a Member of this House is justified in entering into debateable matter in answer to a Question? Mr. Speaker: No; that would certainly be contrary to the Rule. What I understand the hon. and learned Gentleman (the Solicitor General for Ireland) to be doing is replying to the principle involved in a series of Questions on the Paper to-day, and laying the foundation for the determination on his part not to reply to Questions which involve legal proceedings now going on, [310] 1234

Alteration of Question — Colonel Nolan: I rise to Order. I wish to ask your ruling, Mr. Speaker, whether this Question [which respected Queen's Plates] is not of an argumentative character? Does it not assume a point which has been very frequently argued in this House? Mr. Speaker: The Question certainly does assume that Queen's Plates have entirely failed of their object. If the hon. and gallant Gentleman objects to it, it may be omitted from the Question, and the remainder may be asked, [311] 581

Dr. Tanner: I will ask the right hon. and learned Gentleman (the Attorney General for Ireland) also a point which is inserted in the Question, but which, I find, has been removed from the Paper. Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. Gentleman is therefore not entitled to ask it, [314] 966

Alteration of Question—Mr. Chance complained that, whereas a Notice of Question which he had handed in relative to the removal of a certain placard by the Royal Irish Constabulary contained the contents of the placard, that portion had been expunged at the Table.—Mr. Speaker: The reason why I refused to allow that placard to appear is that of late a very large number of Questions have been given in containing a very large quantity of matter to be printed; and it was so overloading the Paper that I thought it right to stop the insertion of anonymous extracts from papers, and not to trouble the House with them, [318] 42

Discussion arising whether the placard was not in itself of an illegal character, Mr. Speaker said: If the hon. Gentleman will put upon the Paper a Question to the Attorney General for Ireland, asking what specific and particular passage in the placard he considers to be of an illegal character to justify the action taken, I think that would meet the circumstances of the case, [318] 46

Mr. T. D. Sullivan: I must press for an answer to my Question—whether a newspaper publishing the same matter as is contained in that placard, and circulating in the district referred to, will be liable to be seized by the police? Mr. Speaker: That is a question of law, which the hon. and learned Gentleman could not answer offhand; and I doubt even whether such a Question could be put to him properly, [318] 197

The hon. and learned Member is now asking a Question which does not fairly arise upon the Question on the Paper, [310] 1218

Irregularity of Question.—Colonel King-Harman: Until the Government can obtain from Parliament powers for changing the venue, so that the accused may be tried in some district where the influence of the National League will not be paramount?—Mr. Sexton: I wish to ask you, Mr. Speaker, as a matter of Order, whether the hon. and gallant Gentleman is entitled to make a Question in this House the vehicle of such an assumption as is expressed in the last few lines of the Question? Mr. Speaker: I think the hon. Gentleman will see that this is but the repetition of a Question that was asked by the hon. and learned Gentleman the Member for North Longford. I did not think it necessary to interfere in that case, and I do not think it necessary to interfere now, [311] 1751

Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. Gentleman is not asking a Question. Mr. Storey: Excuse me, I am asking a Question. Mr. Speaker: The hon. Gentleman is arguing the question, [315] 523, 524

Mr. T. M. Healy: I wish to know whether the House should keep upon its records a Question which assumes that the agitation which these persons are engaged in is a "criminal conspiracy?" Mr. Speaker: I think that the assumption to which the hon. and learned Gentleman alludes ought not to be made in the Question, [315] 895

Irregularity of Practice.—Mr. Speaker: I must call the attention of the House to the practice which is springing up, after Questions have been gone through, and even after they have been gone through a second time, and after all supplementary inquiries have been put, of hon. Gentlemen rising to refer to the answers given by Ministers. This gives rise to great confusion, and I hope the House will not sanction the practice, [320] 279, 1360

Mr. T. W. Russell had given Notice of a Question, which was afterwards withdrawn.—Mr. E. Harrington asked, as a point of Order, whether he might be permitted to refer to it? The Question contained serious imputations on the character of the district which he represented; and he desired to know if he was at liberty to read the Question, and a telegram in reference to it?—Mr. Speaker: I have not seen the Question to which the hon. Gentleman refers; but, as he represents the district in which an outrage is alleged to have occurred, he may make a personal explanation, [311] 1753, 1754

The Question of the hon. Member appears to be an argument in the guise of a Question, [314] 42

Matter of opinion cannot form the subject of a Question, [314] 354

The reason why the Question was partly struck out was that the hon. Member asked the Government a Question on a matter of opinion, which was entirely without the scope of a Question. The hon. Member is not entitled to ask a Question as to a matter of opinion. With regard to the other point the hon. Member has raised, I may say that, as a general rule, hon. Members consult with the Clerk at the Table as to whether their Questions are in Order or not; and, as a rule, everything is done in an amicable manner. I assure the hon. Member that no Question is struck off which is not palpably against the Rules of the House, [312] 189

Argumentative Questions — Mr. Speaker: Order! The Question itself is of a very argumentative character, and asks for an opinion; and it is not usual to ask for an opinion from a Minister in the form of a Question, nor to draw inferences, [318] 196, 356, 379, 542

Order, order! The hon. Gentleman is not entitled to debate this Question. The Question has been asked, and it is for the right hon. and gallant Gentleman to answer if he sees fit, [314] 1272

Irregular Expressions—Mr. De Lisle asked if "the Coercion Bill," as given in the Question, was the proper designation of the Bill before the House?—Mr. Speaker: The proper and official title ought to have been the Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) Bill.—An Irish Member: "Coercion Bill."—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! [314] 355

Mr. De Lisle: Is it in Order to introduce into a Question offensive words or nicknames which, in the opinion of many Members of this House, are calculated to produce sedition and to bring the law into contempt? In this Question the words "Coercion Act" are used instead of "Criminal Law Amendment Act." I wish to ask, Sir, whether the use of this expression is in Order, and also to call to your attention the fact that the same words which appear to me to be offensive are used in a Question which is to be asked on a future day? Mr. Speaker: I have no doubt it is by inadvertence that the words to which the hon. Member takes exception appear on the Paper. But I have already given directions that an alteration shall be made in the words which will appear on the Paper to-morrow. Mr. Sexton:

Are we to understand that this phrase cannot appear on the Paper of this House, and cannot be used in the course of debate—because hitherto it has been the expression commonly used in discussion in this House? Mr. Speaker: I do not go so far as that. I only say that it is not a proper expression to appear on the Paper, [318] 931

I wish to ask you, Sir, whether, in view of the fact that an Envoy from His Holiness the Sovereign Pontiff of the Catholic Church was lately received by Her Majesty the Queen, ordinary usage does not require that he should be described by his historical and accepted title, and not by that of the Pope of Rome as it appears in the Question? Mr. Speaker: There is nothing irregular in the Question, [318] 1173

Order—Mr. O'Hanlon, who had two Questions on the Paper, said: I wish to postpone those Questions until they can be answered by the Chief Secretary. The Parliamentary Under Secretary (Colonel King-Harman): I can answer the Questions. Mr. O'Hanlon: I wish to reserve them for some future occasion. Mr. Speaker: Order, order! It is quite competent for the right hon. and gallant Gentleman to answer the Questions on the Paper, [315] 1730

Mr. Speaker: If the right hon. and learned Gentleman (the Lord Advocate) refuses to answer the Question I cannot compel him, [314] 1272; [317] 765

Mr. Sexton: I wish to ask you, Sir, whether it is in Order, or respectful to Her Majesty's Roman Catholic subjects, to speak of and to use the expression "Romish ceremonies," which appears in the third paragraph of the Question? Mr. Speaker: I did not take any exception to the expression when I first saw it, nor do I think that any exception can be taken to it now. I do not suppose that any insult to any Member of this House was for a moment intended. Mr. Sexton: We consider it extremely offensive. Mr. Speaker: With that knowledge I shall take care that in future Questions are so framed as not to offend the prejudices and feelings—very just feelings—of hon. Members, [320] 1671

Limitation—I think it is exceeding the usual limits of a Question to ask an hon. Member of this House what he stated outside the House, [318] 1382

Limitation of Questions, [318] 49, 363, 1176

Premature Discussion of a Subject

On a Question by Dr. Cameron, Mr. Speaker said: It is impossible for me to anticipate events, and to determine now whether such a discussion would be in Order or not. When the case arises I shall, of course, be prepared to give my decision upon the point, [310] 1793

It is a distinct Rule of the House that no Motion on the Paper can be anticipated, either by general debate, or by an Amendment made to the Address, [310] 1830

On Order for Committee on the Supreme Court of Judicature (Ireland) Bill, Mr. Maurice Healy offered some remarks on the constitution of the Court of Common Pleas. Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. Gentleman is now discussing the merits of the Bill, [311] 114

The hon. Member (Mr. De Lisle) is now discussing an Amendment on the Paper which it will be only in Order for him to discuss when that Amendment is arrived at in due course, [311] 398, 505

The hon. Gentleman (Mr. W. A. Macdonald) is dealing very discursively with this Rule. He is not entitled to pursue the line of argument he has commenced, [311] 424

The hon. Member is discussing at some length Rules which are not yet before the House; and I point out that in doing so he is not in Order, [311] 1679

I must remind the right hon. Gentleman that he is violating one of the Rules of this House, which is that no Member is entitled to discuss the provisions of a measure which is now before "another place," [314] 68

Premature Discussion of a Bill, [315] 1035

The Vaccination Act—I am sorry to interrupt the hon. Gentleman (Mr. Picton); but I must remind him that he is now speaking on a subject—the Compulsory Vaccination Laws—in regard to which he has given Notice of a Motion for a future day, [315] 1052

Relevancy and Irrelevancy

Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I have twice reminded the hon. Gentleman (Mr. Wallace) that he is dealing most irrelevantly with the subject before the House, and I must now direct him to discontinue his speech, [310] 1818, 1819

Mr. Speaker calls attention to the continued irrelevance on the part of the hon. Member (Mr. Harrington) and directs him to discontinue his speech, [310] 1491

Mr. Speaker: The hon. Gentleman (Mr. Lane) is not discussing the Question before the House in any sense. He is not speaking to the Resolutions either in their individual or their collective capacity. . . . . Order, order! I have told the hon. Gentleman that he is not speaking relevantly, and if I have to interrupt him again I shall be obliged to take stronger measures. . . . . I must direct the hon. Gentleman to discontinue his speech in consequence of continued irrelevancy, [311] 379, 380, 550

This is the second time I have to request the hon. Gentleman (Mr. Blane) to keep to the Amendment, with which his remarks have no connection whatever, [312] 94, 95

Sir R. Paget: I want to know whether the hon. Gentleman (Mr. T. P. O'Connor) is justified, on a Motion for the adjournment of the debate, to discuss the whole question and subjects already discussed? Mr. Speaker: I do not think that if the hon. Gentleman reviews the debate on this Motion he would be in Order, [312] 114, 115

It would be travelling wide of the Question to discuss the details of a Purchase Scheme on a Motion to bring in a Bill to amend the Criminal Law, [312] 1690, 1703

Mr. Shirley: Is the noble Lord in Order in referring to a speech made in this House in another debate during the present Session? Mr. Speaker: The noble Lord, I imagine, is referring to a speech in what may almost be called a stage of the Bill now under discussion, and I cannot rule that he is out of Order, [312] 1709

The career of the right hon. Gentleman (Mr. Goschen), or references of the sort which the hon. Member is now making, have nothing whatever to do with the introduction of this (the Crimes) Bill, [312] 1881

The relations between the Catholic Clergy and the Holy See and between this country and the Pope do not appear to me to be relevant in discussing the introduction of the Crimes Bill [312] 1889

Police Force Enfranchisement Bill—I do not think a discussion on the past history of the Women's Suffrage Question would be in Order. The enfranchisement of women was a separate question, regarding which there was already a Bill before the House, [313] 1311, 1312

Duke of Connaught's Leave Bill—Mr. E. Robertson: I wish to know, Sir, whether, in discussing this Bill, we shall not be at liberty to consider the practice of appointing to high positions in the Army and Navy Members of the Royal Family? Mr. Speaker: That would certainly be out of Order. Mr. A. O'Connor: On the question of Order, Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask you whether you will be good enough to direct the Clerk at the Table to take down that ruling as a precedent? Mr. Speaker: I shall do nothing of the sort, [314] 1700

Mr. Atkinson asked whether the hon. and learned Member's remarks were relevant—because they appeared to him to be nonsense?—Mr. Speaker: There can be no point of Order with regard to irrelevancy upon a Motion for the adjournment of the debate. Mr. Healy: I thought I caught the word "nonsense." I do not know, Mr. Speaker, whether that word is in Order; if so, it will greatly enlarge the Parliamentary vocabulary. Mr. Speaker thought that "nonsense" was not a Parliamentary expression; but had interpreted it to refer to "irrelevancy," [315] 1058

Amendments to Lords' Amendments—Any Amendment proposed in this House must be relevant to the Lords' Amendment then under consideration, [315] 1559

Belfast Main Drainage Bill—What the House has now to consider are the Lords' Amendments to the Main Drainage Bill; and it would not be in Order to discuss any particular clause in the Public Health Act, [317] 59, 60, 494

Right of Reply

Orkney Roads Bill—Moved, "That the Bill be now read a second time." Mr. Lyell moved the rejection of the Bill; after debate, Mr. Lyell rose to say "a few words in reply." Mr. Speaker: I must point out to the hon. Member that he is not entitled to a reply, [310] 1209

Speaking a Second Time—Mr. Parnell: The right hon. Gentleman the Leader of the House, while assenting to the Motion for the adjournment of the debate—— Mr. Speaker: I must point out that the hon. Gentleman has already spoken. Mr. Parnell: I must submit to you, Sir, that I spoke upon the Main Question before the House. It is well known that a Member who moves the adjournment of the debate is speaking technically on the Main Question until his Motion has been put from the Chair. Mr. Speaker: The hon. Gentleman cannot, under the circumstances, speak twice; but if the House likes to grant its indulgence to him, he may, no doubt, address it again, [313] 180, 1713

The hon. Member who moved the adjournment has exhausted his right, having already addressed the House, [315] 652

Licensed Premises (Earlier Closing) (Scotland) Bill—Mr. Speaker said, he would remind the hon. Member that he had no right of reply—he had moved to agree with the Lords' Amendment, [319] 1632

Un-Parliamentary Language—Dr. Tanner: Shame, shame!—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I must call the attention of the hon. Gentleman to the fact that he has just uttered a word which is not Parliamentary. He used the word "Shame." It is a word which is of recent use, and one which is becoming frequent. It is an expression which ought to be rigorously put down. With the authority and sanction of the House, I shall propose for the future to take notice of it, [310] 166, 167

Mr. Coghill: By the sweet and persuasive influence of dynamite——Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member is not entitled to speak in that way of any section of the House, [311] 343

Mr. Clancy: It seems to me like a piece of insolence on the part of a gentleman like the late Chief Secretary for Ireland, who is himself utterly ignorant of the affairs of Ireland ——Mr. Speaker: The hon. Gentleman has applied the word "insolence" to a Member of this House. That is altogether an un-Parliamentary expression. The hon. Member will withdraw it, [311] 1697

Mr. Dillon: I wish to ask whether the hon. Member is in Order in entering upon an argument to prove that a denial made by another hon. Member is not worthy of credence?—Mr. Speaker: It would not be competent for the hon. Member to call in question the denial of the hon. Member for Cork; but, as I understood the hon. Member, he accepted the denial, [314] 255

Mr. De Lisle: The hon. Member for Mid Cork (Dr. Tanner), standing below the Bar, has said of us, sitting on this side of the House, that we are a "damned lot of cads." ["So you are;" and cries of "Order!"]—Mr. Speaker: I must direct those words to be taken down. Has the hon. Member for Mid Cork anything to say in reply?—Dr. Tanner said a few words. Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member says he reiterates the expression. His remarks must not be allowed to pass without notice. I must order him to withdraw, and to apologize to the House for having used that expression. . . . The hon. Member is not to dictate to me what I am to do, [314] 847

Admiral Field: Then we have an ex-Secretary to the Admiralty who assisted that ex-First Lord in his villainous work.—Mr. Speaker: The hon. and gallant Member will be good enough to withdraw that expression, [315] 1210

Mr. T. M. Healy: Then, Sir, the Chief Secretary's statement was a mere quibble—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I consider the interruption of the hon. and learned Member to be disorderly and un-Parliamentary, and I ask him to withdraw it. . . . . This is a matter of some importance. The hon. and learned Member interrupted a Question asked by another hon. Member in a disorderly manner, and he said that a statement made by a right hon. Member of this House was a quibble. I ask the hon. and learned Member to withdraw that expression, [315] 1431, 1432

Mr. T. E. Ellis wished to know whether it was in Order for an hon. Member to declare that the Anti-Tithe League was an illegal organization?—Mr. Speaker: If the hon. Member used that expression, it is clearly out of Order. Subsequently, Mr. Speaker suggested that the hon. Member should substitute the words "Anti-Tithe agitation," [316] 1029

Mr. Redmond: The Chief Secretary for Ireland had made statements regarding Ireland which were baseless and without the slightest foundation—Dr. Tanner: That is characteristic of him—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! Do I understand the hon. Gentleman to have used the expression "that is characteristic of him?"—Dr. Tanner: Yes; I said characteristic—Mr. Speaker: Then the hon. Gentleman will withdraw the expression—Dr. Tanner: Well, Sir, of course, if it is not in Order, I will withdraw it—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! When I ask the hon. Gentleman to withdraw, I expect the withdrawal in the manner this House is accustomed to—Dr. Tanner: If you order me to withdraw it, Sir, I will withdraw it, [316] 1072

Mr. W. A. Macdonald: They believed there was nothing too mean, nothing too despicable, for the Government to do in order to gain a point under certain circumstances—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. Gentleman is not justified in using that language in this House. I must ask him to withdraw it, [316] 1273

Mr. Dillon: Proposals of the usual dishonest character between the Chief Secretary for Ireland——Mr. Speaker: Did I hear the hon. Gentleman say "of the usual dishonest character?"—Mr. Dillon: Yes, Sir—Mr. Speaker: Then he will at once withdraw that. It was an un-Parliamentary expression which the hon. Member should not have used, [316] 1338, 1339

Mr. Tomlinson asked whether the hon. Member (Mr. Molloy) was entitled to speak of Members going to their constituencies "with their hands full of lies?"—Mr. Speaker said, he had not heard the expression; but if it had been used it was highly un-Parliamentary, and would, of course, be withdrawn, [316] 1651

Mr. P. Stanhope: He could quite understand that a Vote of Thanks to Mr. Gladstone for his message of peace to Ireland must strike the lackadaisical and whimsical mind of the right hon. Gentleman who now held the reins of power in Ireland as being a monstrous proposition——Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I must caution the hon. Member against using language which is not Parliamentary, and not commonly courteous. If the hon. Member repeats that language I shall Name him to the House—Mr. P. Stanhope: I bow, Sir, to your decision. If, under the impulse of a very strong feeling with regard to the Executive in Ireland, I used an expression which I cannot believe will be condemned by the majority of the English people——Mr. Speaker: Order, order! I must ask the hon. Member not to defend language which, from the Chair, I have emphatically condemned, [320] 763

Imputations on Members

Mr. Harrington said, he wished to ask Mr. Speaker if it were in Order to use the word "tyranny" as applied to hon. Members of that House?—Mr. Speaker said, that the word used by the hon. Member did not contravene the Rules of Parliament; but it was, of course, a strong expression, [310] 193

There is nothing in the remarks of the hon. Member to call for my intervention, although an imputation of motives is un-Parliamentary, [310] 212

Mr. M. J. Kenny asked, whether the noble Lord (Lord Ernest Hamilton) was in Order in charging an hon. Member with inciting the Irish people to commit perjury?—Mr. Speaker said, he understood that the noble Lord was arguing that on the interpretation of a series of speeches they amounted to a recommendation of that course, [310] 329

Mr. Holmes: The hon. Member for Cork (Mr. Parnell) threatened Her Majesty's Government with dynamiters, who were to come from America.—Mr. Parnell: I wish to ask you, Sir, whether the right hon. and learned Gentleman is entitled to accuse me of having used threats?—Mr. Speaker: What I understood the right hon. and learned Gentleman to mean was that the hon. Member had intimated his opinion that in a certain contingency dynamiters would come from America, [310] 843

Mr. Nolan: If hon. Members could be induced to act intelligently, and in a gentlemanly manner——Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member must withdraw that expression as regards hon. Members of this House, [311] 533

Colonel Hambro: I rather imagine his real object has been to stave off the discussion which the House desires to enter upon at a later period of the evening.—Mr. Speaker: The hon. and gallant Gentleman is not entitled to attribute motives of that kind to the hon. Member, [311] 1056

The expression "proceedings involving wilful and intentional delay" is not un-Parliamentary, [311] 1661

Sir H. Havelock-Allan: I understood the hon. Gentleman to say that the Chief Secretary has had a lie put into his mouth by some Member of this House; and I want to know from you, Sir, if such an expression is regular?—Mr. Speaker: I noticed the expression; but I did not understand the hon. Gentleman to imply that the right hon. Gentleman had stated that that was not true, but that a statement had been supplied to the right hon. Gentleman which was not correct, [312] 778

I ask you, Mr. Speaker, whether the hon. Member is not bound to withdraw that expression?—Mr. Speaker What is the expression the hon. Member complains of? Colonel Blundell: The hon. Member said the right hon. Gentleman signalized his first week of Office by a murder. In saying that the hon. Member has attributed murder to the Chief Secretary for Ireland.—Mr. Speaker: If the hon. Member has imputed anything of the kind he is entirely out of Order, and it would be my duty to call upon him to withdraw it. But I did not gather that he said that, [312] 780

Mr. E. Harrington asked, whether it was in Order to impute to hon. Members that they were parties to the shooting of a man in Ireland?—Mr. Speaker The hon. Member has not imputed outrage to a Member of this House; he was speaking constructively, [312] 1246

Mr. T. M. Healy: I shall, at the earliest moment, call attention to the scandalous conduct of the Crown in reference to the trial of these two men.—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. and learned Gentleman is well aware that that term would not be permitted in a Motion or Question, [312] 1619

Mr. W. Redmond: I wish to know whether he (the Chief Secretary) will have the common honesty to —— Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The imputation of a want of common honesty addressed to the right hon. Gentleman is out of Order, [312] 1640

Reflections on Judges—Mr. T. M. Healy: I wish to know whether an attack on Judges in this House is in Order? Whether the noble Lord is in Order in saying that a Judge of the Land Court was in favour of the tenants?—Mr. Speaker: I do not gather that the noble Lord makes any reflections on a Judge of a Superior Court. The Sub-Commissioner is not a Judge of a Superior Court, [312] 1921

The hon. Member (Mr. Dillon) is now impugning the conduct of a Judge of the Superior Court on making a Motion for the Adjournment of the House, to which no Amendment can be moved. It is perfectly competent for the hon. Member to call the attention of the House to the arrest of Father Keller; but I cannot allow the conduct of a Judge of a Superior Court to be impugned in this way except upon a direct Motion, when an opportunity would be afforded for giving an answer, [312] 736

Dr. Tanner wished to ask Mr. Speaker whether the right hon. Gentleman was in Order in attributing to a Member of the House that "he left a bloody trail behind him?"—Mr. Speaker said, he understood that the right hon. Gentleman was quoting some expression which was used by the hon. Member for East Galway, [313] 923

Mr. Speaker: The hon. and gallant Gentleman (Colonel Saunderson) is now making serious charges. I have nothing to do with the nature of the charges which the hon. and gallant Gentleman chooses to make, provided that he makes those charges in a manner which does not contravene Parliamentary Rules. The hon. and gallant Gentleman has not said anything yet which would call for my interference, [313] 1084, 1085

Mr. Puleston: I should like to know whether the hon. Gentleman is in Order in saying that I hold a brief for the solicitors of the Company?—Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member will withdraw the expression, [314] 101

Mr. Speaker: I must remind the hon. Member (Mr. E. Beckett) that to attribute falsehood to another hon. Member of this House is un-Parliamentary. The hon. Member is entitled to enter into an argument founded upon facts, and to draw inferences from those facts; but he must not directly accuse an hon. Member of falsehood, [314] 258, 259

I wish to ask whether the hon. Member (Mr. Anderson) is within the bounds of courtesy and Order in saying that the Attorney General and Solicitor General had resorted to another card-trick?—Mr. Speaker: It is not a Parliamentary expression, and I hope the hon. and learned Member will withdraw it, [314] 1189

Mr. Parnell: I wish to know whether the right hon. Gentleman the First Lord of the Treasury is entitled to impute a Parliamentary offence, which obstruction has been repeatedly declared to be, to a minority of this House, and that without making any attempt whatever to substantiate the charge? Mr. Speaker: The term "obstruction" has been repeatedly used in this House without the Chair calling the Members using it to Order, [315] 1598, 1599

Mr. Ewart: But the loss of life in this dispute is as nothing compared to the loss of life the hon. Member wishes to make provision for.—Mr. Speaker: I am sure the hon. Member does not wish to imply that the hon. Member for West Belfast desires to provide for the loss of life? Mr. Ewart withdrew the observation, [315] 1656

The hon. and learned Member (Mr. Webster) must be aware that the imputation of motives is un-Parliamentary; and I am sure the hon. and learned Gentleman, on reflection, will not desire to impute anything in the shape of an unworthy motive, [316] 579

Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. Gentleman is not speaking in Parliamentary language in imputing such motives to hon. Members of the House.—Dr. Tanner: Of course, Sir, I do not wish to impute it in the non-Parliamentary language—Mr. Speaker: In whatever sense the hon. Member meant it, he must withdraw the words, [316] 1349

Sir James Fergusson, M.P. for Manchester, N.E., having drawn attention to certain words used by Mr. Schwann, M.P. for Manchester, N.D., reflecting on the Members who had been returned to Parliament by the constituencies of Lancashire, asked the hon. Gentleman to withdraw those words—Debate arising, Mr. Speaker said, the point was a personal question between the hon. Member and the right hon. Baronet, and hoped the matter would not be further pursued, [317] 227

Mr. Dillon: The reason why I have brought the matter under the attention of the House is that I suspected it was some hon. Member of the House who supplied the statement to the newspaper. I have had reason to suspect it, and it is an instance of the infamous and atrocious falsehoods by which it is intended to hunt us out of public life.—Mr. Speaker: Order! The hon. Member is not entitled to make such charges against Members of this House, [318] 940, 941

Angry discussion on complaint by Mr. Dillon of a paragraph in The Trowbridge Chronicle; and, later, Mr. Dillon said: I said that the charge was untrue, and then those five hon. Gentlemen rose in their places, one after another, and gave me the lie direct, and said that it was true.—Mr. J. M. Maclean said: I demand to be heard. Surely we are not to sit here for ever while such monstrous accusations are made against us in this House by hon. Members from Ireland?—[Interruption]—Mr. Speaker: I must ask hon. Gentlemen to conduct the proceedings of this House with proper decorum, [318] 941, 942, 943

Interruptions

These repeated interruptions are both un-Parliamentary and disorderly, [313] 1182

The hon. Member (Mr. E. Beckett) describes hon. Members as coming here for the purposes of interruption. That is not a Parliamentary expression, and I ask the hon. Member to withdraw it, [314] 262

Mr. T. M. Healy: I would advise the hon. Member opposite to take some soda water.—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The hon. and learned Gentleman is not here to keep Order. That is my duty.—Mr. Healy: I quite recognize that it is your duty, Mr. Speaker, and I regret that I was betrayed into making the remark I did by the disorder on the other side of the House. . . . I appeal, Sir, for your protection against these disorderly interruptions from the other side of the House.—Mr. Speaker: Order, order! The interruptions of the hon. and learned Gentleman are most un-Parliamentary. A single cry of "Order!" or "Divide!" is not disorderly. The hon. and learned Gentleman himself gives rise to these interruptions, [315] 617, 618

Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) Bill—In consequence of disorder in the House, the First Lord of the Treasury (Mr. W. H. Smith) rose, and said: Mr. Speaker, I beg to ask you if the hon. Gentleman (Mr. Conybeare) is speaking to the Question before the House?—Mr. Speaker: I regret the whole tone of this debate. I regard the tone in which the debate on this subject is conducted as a disgrace to the House.—Mr. Smith then moved "That the Question be now put," which was agreed to, [315] 1676

Mr. T. P. O'Connor: I wish to ask whether, when a statement is made with regard to a speech which an hon. Member who makes it regards as incorrect, that hon. Member has not a right to get up and contradict the statement at once? Mr. Speaker: That is not the Rule of the House. The Rule is that if the hon. Member who is in possession of the House does not give way, an hon. Member has no right to interfere and address the House, [316] 346

Mr. Goschen: What does the hon. Member (Mr. Labouchere) mean by that interruption, which I consider is almost an insolent interruption? Mr. Speaker: I hope the right hon. Gentleman will withdraw the word "insolent," which is not a Parliamentary expression, [319] 114

ORDER IN DEBATE

Mr. Speaker: It is very difficult for me to secure the proper conduct of orderly debate unless I have the co-operation of hon. Gentlemen. I must appeal to hon. Members for that co-operation, [312] 1634

Mr. Radcliffe Cooke, having moved the adjournment of the debate, said that he would not press the Motion, but would proceed to make the few remarks which he intended to make. Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member must first withdraw his Motion, [310] 473

The Amendments to the Address—Mr. Speaker points out that, under circumstances stated, it would not be permissible to discuss the question of agricultural distress on an Amendment to the Address of which Sir Richard Paget had given Notice, [310] 1413, 1414

Tedious Repetition—I must call the attention of the House to the tedious repetition of the hon. Member (Dr. Tanner), and must ask him to resume his seat, [311] 1011

Inordinate Length—We are not now discussing the whole Rules of Procedure, and I must say the discussion on the incidental point has lasted long enough, [311] 1446

Relevancy of Observations to the Motion before the House.—Sir R. Fowler: I rise to Order. Are these observations pertinent to a Motion for Adjournment? Mr. Speaker: The hon. Gentleman will bear in mind the Motion before the House is the Adjournment of the Debate. . . . . Dr. Clark: As to the question of restricting rights, public-houses will be allowed to be open until 10. . . . Mr. Speaker: The hon. Member is not entitled, on a Motion for Adjournment, to discuss the merits of the [Licensed Premises, &c. (Scotland)] Bill, [311] 1548, 1549

Charges against a Member of this House—Suspension of a Member.—Colonel Saunderson (Member for Armagh, N.), in the course of a very excited speech, having said that he did accuse certain Members of having "associated with men whom they knew to be murderers" much confusion ensued; in the course of which Mr. T. M. Healy said: You rule that I am not entitled to say that if the hon. and gallant Member persists in making that accusation he is a liar.—Mr. Speaker, after vainly interposing, Named Mr. Healy; and, after Motion and Division, Mr. Healy was suspended from the Service of the House, [See text] [313] 1087-96.

Mr. Sexton asked, on a subsequent night, whether the Government assented to a Motion to rescind the Order suspending the hon. and learned Member for North Longford?—Mr. Speaker said that no Notice had been given; and, had Notice been handed in at the Table, it would have taken its place among the ordinary Notices of Motion, and would not have had precedence as a Question of Privilege, because it affected a Member of the House. Mr. Speaker further explains his view of the position, so far as he was himself concerned [See text] [313] 1123

Mr. Sexton said: I think I shall be doing my duty if I move that Mr. T. M. Healy be heard in his own behalf at the Bar.—Mr. Speaker: That cannot be done, for this reason. The Order under which I acted is one of summary procedure; and if an Order under the Summary Procedure Standing Order is to be reviewed immediately, and debate ensues, then there is an end of the procedure which was intended to be summary, [313] 1126, 1127

Mr. Speaker: In reply to the hon. Gentleman, I have to say that when an hon. Member of this House is suspended from the Service of the House, the doorkeepers, acting under general orders, exclude that Member from entering within the doors of this Chamber. As a matter of custom, it has been usual to allow the Member so suspended to sit in the Strangers' Gallery, [313] 1417

In the course of the debate on the suspension of Mr. T. M. Healy, Sir William Harcourt had made use of certain expressions, of which the First Lord of the Treasury now complained. Mr. Speaker, in stating the facts, said: The right hon. Gentleman stated, as I now learn from the protest of the right hon. Gentleman the First Lord of the Treasury, that there was systematic insult—systematic provocation and studied insult—used towards a certain quarter of this House. I am bound to say that during my tenure of the Chair I have not noticed, from any quarter of the House, any conduct of that nature. I am also bound to say that certain remarks of the right hon. Gentleman the Member for Derby were out of Order; and before he sat down he gave utterance to that which I should not have allowed had I known what he intended to say, [318] 482, 483

New Standing Order, 1882—Suspension of Mr. T. M. Healy, M.P., for North Longford, for disorderly conduct, [318] 443, 482, 483

A Member to be spoken of by his Parliamentary Title — The hon. and learned Member must designate another hon. Member by his Parliamentary title, [316] 580

Reference to a Past Debate—Reference to what passed last night is not in Order, [316] 1263

The Question is that this clause be read a second time. The hon. Member has not moved anything; he is not able to move that this Question be deferred. The hon. Member would not be in Order in moving an Amendment now, [320] 1290, 1291

SELECT COMMITTEES

Public Petitions Committee—Increase of the Quorum—If it be the pleasure of the House that the quorum should be increased, the House has the power of increasing it, [314] 537

Army and Navy Estimates Committee—Admiral Field: I object to that name, Sir; and I should like to move, in spite of what the right hon. Gentleman the First Lord of the Treasury has said, that the name of the late Civil Lord of the Admiralty should be substituted for it.—Mr. Speaker: The hon. and gallant Gentleman can object to a name, but he cannot propose another without Notice, [315] 1214

SITTINGS AND ADJOURNMENT

Counts—Mr. O'Hanlon: Mr. Speaker, I beg to move that the House be counted.—Mr. Speaker: In the exercise of the discretion vested in me, I shall decline to count the House. I have recently satisfied myself that there is a quorum of the House present, [311] 620

Motions for Adjournment—I must remind the hon. and learned Gentleman that by the Standing Order the debate on a Motion for Adjournment must be strictly confined to that Motion, [313] 335

Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) Bill—Wednesday Sittings—Moved, "That the Question be now put;" A. 230, N. 143; M. 87. The Chairman (Mr. Courtney): Since the last Division a quarter to 6 o'clock has been reached; and the Question is "That the words 'any person who shall' stand part of the Clause." The construction of the Standing Orders is not without difficulty; but, on the best consideration I can give them, I am of opinion that the Question must now be put.

Standing Order No. 2 rules "That when such Business has been disposed of, or at 6 o'clock precisely, notwithstanding there may be Business under discussion, Mr. Speaker do adjourn the House without putting any Question"

It was now seven minutes after 6 o'clock. Further proceeding objected to. Mr. Speaker: I am informed that on many previous occasions Divisions have begun before a quarter to 6 o'clock, and have not been reported until after 6 o'clock. Further objection offered. Mr. Speaker: I have to say the Business of the House has been protracted beyond 6 o'clock in consequence of proceedings before a quarter to 6 o'clock, and the proceedings afterwards have been consequential upon that action. My presence here after 6 o'clock is in consequence of that protracted Sitting

Question put, and agreed to, and Mr. Speaker then adjourned the House without Question put, [315] 488, 489, 490

Moved, "That this House do now adjourn." Mr. Healy: May I ask until what hour?—Mr. W. H. Smith: Two o'clock.—Mr. Healy: Is it not necessary to make a separate Motion?—Mr. Speaker: It is sufficient for the right hon. Gentleman to mention the hour, [315] 1027

Sir George Campbell: There is important Scotch Business down for to-night, and I wish to know whether the right hon. Gentleman is in Order in bringing forward this Question on the Motion for the Adjournment of the House? . . . . Mr. Speaker: No doubt the course taken by the right hon. Gentleman is an unusual one, and may become a very inconvenient one; but this is the substantive Motion he has interposed between the Orders of the Day. I cannot stop any hon. Gentleman who likes to take such a course. . . . On a Motion for Adjournment a large range of subjects may be gone into, [320] 153, 157

MISCELLANEOUS

Educational Endowments (Scotland) Commission—This scheme, Sir, was laid on the Table of the House on August 30 last year. Now, is the period for which it is to lie on the Table to count from that date? If so, this will be the 59th night of Parliament.

Should the scheme date back from August 30, or should this be the first of 60 days?—Mr. Speaker: I understand it was laid on the Table to-night, and must, therefore, so far as the cognizance of the House is concerned, be regarded as a new scheme, and date from to-day, [311] 852, 853

Duke of Connaught's Leave Bill—The Bill having been read a second time, it was moved "that Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair."—Mr. Dillwyn: I appeal to you, Sir, whether it is in Order for the right hon. Gentleman to take the remaining stages of the Bill now?—Mr. Speaker: It is perfectly in Order for the right hon. Gentleman to make the Motion, if it is done with the general assent of the House.—Mr. M. Healy: Can it be done without the unanimous assent of the House?—Mr. Speaker: The general assent of the House is all that is necessary.—Question having been put, Mr. Speaker said: I do not think sufficient general assent has been given, [314] 1712, 1713

The Votes and Proceedings—Mr. T. M. Healy: I wish to know whether entries cannot be made in the Journals of the House, or in the Index of Hansard, showing, whenever the closure was applied, the original amount of time occupied by the House on the original Motion, and the number of speeches made upon it?—Mr. Speaker: I do not think it would be advisable to accede to the suggestion which the hon. and learned Member has made, [315] 905

Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) Bill—Notice of Motion of Instruction to the Committee—Mr. T. M. Healy: Are we to understand, Mr. Speaker, that it will be possible for Members to obtain copies of the right hon. Gentleman's Notice to-night?—Mr. Speaker: It is not customary to give copies of Motions, [315] 1442

Criminal Law Amendment (Ireland) [Expenses]—Mr. Speaker is of opinion that the Resolution to be proposed in Committee would cover the expenses which would be thought proper for solicitors, [315] 1841

Production of Parliamentary Papers—Admiral Mayne asked whether the Admiralty proposed to lay a Memorandum upon the Table similar to that of the Secretary of State for War, in answer to the charges contained in the speech of the noble Lord the Member for South Paddington? Mr. H. H. Fowler asked whether there was any precedent for a Minister of the Crown replying to a Party political speech, made out-of-doors, by a Memorandum placed on the Table of the House, and circulated as an ordinary Parliamentary Paper? Mr. Speaker: I am not aware of any precedent of the nature referred to by the right hon. Member for Wolverhampton. It certainly appears to me that there would be an obvious objection to laying a Memorandum, by command, on the Table which was of a controversial description, [316] 777

Production of Documents—Mr. H. H. Fowler: I wish to ask you, Sir, whether it is in Order for a Minister of the Crown to quote from an Official Document without laying it upon the Table? Mr. Speaker: It does not follow that every Document from which a Minister quotes must be laid upon the Table of the House. Public Documents and Despatches must, of course, be laid on the Table; but it is possible that a Minister may quote from confidential communications which could not be laid before the House, even if moved for. But, of course, if a Minister declines to lay on the Table documents which he has quoted, it so much diminishes the authority they carry, inasmuch as the House cannot judge for itself of their value, [319] 1859, 1869

Suspension of Standing Orders—A Motion for the suspension of more than one Standing Order has frequently been made. The Motion, however, now before the House is not for the suspension of the Standing Orders, that Motion having been rendered unnecessary by the lapse of time. The Motion now is, "That the Bill be now considered." Mr. T. M. Healy: If the Motion, "That the Bill be now considered," be agreed to, will the Standing Orders be suspended? Mr. Speaker: No; there will be no necessity for suspending them, [317] 1752, 1861, 1868
